

Contents

HCPJ is the quarterly professional journal for counsellors and psychotherapists in health care

Publisher

BACP, BACP House, 15 St John's Business Park, Lutterworth LE17 4HB
Tel 01455 883300 Fax 01455 550243
email hcpj.editorial@bacp.co.uk

HCPJ is published in January, April, July and October

Subscriptions

The journal is sent free to FHCP members. For subscription queries, telephone 01455 883300 or email membership@bacp.co.uk

Editor

Dr Penny Gray hcpj@pennygray.com

Associate Editor and FHCP Executive member

Sarah Hovington, primary care counsellor

Associate Editors

Rachel Freeth, psychiatrist and counsellor
Peter Jenkins, Senior Lecturer in Counselling Studies, Salford University
Ewan Davidson, primary care counsellor and healthcare counselling tutor

Design and production Fran Shall

Printer Page Bros

Cover image Stock Illustration Source/ Getty

Advertising

For rates contact Jeannette Hughes
tel 01455 883314
jeannette.hughes@bacp.co.uk

Copyright

Apart from fair dealing for the purposes of research or private study, or criticism or review, as permitted under the UK Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988, no part of this publication may be reproduced, stored or transmitted in any form or by any means without the prior permission in writing of the publisher, or in accordance with the terms of licences issued by the Copyright Clearance Centre (CCC), the Copyright Licensing Agency (CLA), and other organisations authorised by the publisher to administer reprographic reproduction rights. Individual and organisational members of BACP only may make photocopies for teaching purposes free of charge provided such copies are not resold.

© British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy

ISSN 1475-0724

1 Editorial

2 News

3 Brief psychotherapies: the evidence

There is a paucity of evidence relating to decisions about treatment length, says Michael Barkham. And on the issue of therapy duration v effect, the jury is still out

4 Brief person-centred counselling

Focused person-centred therapy is invaluable for brief work, writes Isabel Gibbard

7 Versatility as a response to time-limited therapy

By recognising and developing their therapeutic versatility, practitioners can enhance the potential for therapeutic moments in brief work, explains Steve Potter

12 How long should therapy be?

Clients may benefit more from flexible therapy than brief therapy, argues Frank Wills

14 IPT in changing times

Providing interpersonal therapy helped to establish Knowsley Primary Care Mental Health Service as one of the first five Northwest 'champion sites' for the IAPT programme, writes Sandra Stock-Jackson

19 In and out of focus: brief dynamic therapy

Jonathan Smith describes how the creative use of a therapeutic focus can enable effective short-term dynamic therapy

22 Solution-focused therapy in a problem-focused world

Solution-focused therapy can be a refreshing change in a healthcare system dominated by risk assessments and negative outlooks towards mental health, says Paul Hanton

26 The future of healthcare counselling?

Brief integrative therapy may represent the future for counselling in healthcare settings, writes Jane Rosoman

28 Topics in training

After CBT, what future for person-centred counsellors in our health services? asks Peter Jenkins

30 Reflections on... the assessment letter

Assessment letters copied in to clients can have a positive or negative impact on the progress of therapy, writes Simon Proudlock

32 Letters

33 Reviews

38 On the receiving end

Patricia Moore found that therapy gave her the confidence to pursue her own interests

39 Primary cares

John Hague discovers the downside to patient choice

40 FHCP update

Plus details of the FHCP 2009 conference

41 Forthcoming events